Attn: Ryan Germany

Dear Secretary Raffensperger,

Pursuant to O.C.G.A. § 21-2-379.24, the undersigned electors of the State of Georgia, hereby request a reexamination of the Dominion Voting System (EAC Certification Number DVS-DemSuite5.5-A) (“Dominion System”), consisting of the Democracy Suite 5.5-A Election Management System Version 5.5.12.1, EMS Adjudication Version 5.5.8.1, ImageCast X Prime (ICX BMD) Ballot Marking Device Version 5.5.10.30, ImageCast Precinct (ICP) Scanning Device Version 5.5.3-0002, and ImageCast Central (ICC) Scanning Device Version 5.5.3-0002. We ask that the Dominion Electronic Pollbooks, part of the integrated voting system, be included in the reexamination, including rigorous tests of integrated functioning with the BMD units to assure accuracy in electronic ballot issuance. Electronic Pollbooks were excluded from your August 9, 2019 certification.

It appears that no Certification Agent was designated by your office for the performance of the required steps in the evaluation of a new voting system prior to the certification on August 9, 2019, as required by Georgia Election Code. In this requested reexamination, a qualified Certification Agent should be designated and caused to undertake the mandated evaluations and issue the report required by the Election Code to form the basis for your decision on certification.

We enclose well in excess of the required ten (10) signatures of duly registered Georgia electors who seek this reexamination. The undersigned voters hereby notify you that your certification of the Dominion System does not meet the requirements of Georgia Voting System Certification Rule 590-8-1-.01, and fails to comply with the Georgia Election Code. Therefore an immediate withdrawal of the August 9, 2019 certification is required and a legally compliant reexamination of the system is needed.

Pursuant to O.C.G.A. § 21-2-379.24(a), “The Secretary of State shall publish and maintain on his or her website the cost of such examination or reexamination.” However, no such information has been located on the Secretary’s website. Given that the issues of security and integrity of the new voting system is a matter of great public interest, and that the initial certification appears to have not been conducted in accordance with Georgia Election Code, we ask that any fee for the reexamination be waived. The specific requests made by the undersigned electors require only de minimis expenditures for reexamination and generally relate to required examination activities not undertaken in the original examination. Further, the original examination and certification was deficient. Voters should not be charged fees for the correction of deficiencies in the original examination. In the event that said fees are not waived, we ask that the signers of the petition be notified of the estimated fees expeditiously before undertaking the reexamination process. We do not authorize reexamination prior to an agreement on the amount of fees to be charged, although any such fees should be waived.

We have attached a partial list of deficiencies in the Dominion System which require attention during reexamination (Exhibit A). We respectfully request that the Secretary of State immediately reexamine the system, including designating a Certification Agent and causing the Certification Agent to issue a report relating to the system's security and compliance with the Georgia Election Code as required by 590-8-1-.01(d)7. We request that this reexamination be conducted immediately given the pending purchase of the system. The system should not be purchased, leased or used in pilot elections until the reexamination is satisfactorily completed in compliance with the Election Code.

Signatures of over 1,450 Georgia voters from 100 counties seeking this reexamination are attached. (Exhibit B). Your points of contact for this action will be Cam Ashling of Georgia Advancing Progress PAC and me on behalf of Coalition for Good Governance. Our contact information is included below.

Dominion Voting System Deficiencies Requiring Reexamination

We seek reexamination of the Dominion Voting System given its numerous deficiencies and the deficiencies in the certification process including, but not limited to:

1. Deficient Certification Process and Testing Employed

Georgia Election Code Rule 590-8-1-.01, “Certification of Voting Systems,” specifies the rules and procedures by which voting systems may be certified in Georgia. However, the process by which the Dominion System was certified on August 9, 2019 failed to comply with these rules:

a. Certification Agent Was Not Designated and No Report Was Issued Prior to Certification

Georgia Election Code Rule 590-8-1-.01(d), “Procedures,” provides:

Qualification tests shall be performed to evaluate the degree to which a system complies with the requirements of the Voting Systems Standards issued by the Election Assistance Commission (EAC). Whenever possible, Qualification tests shall be conducted by Independent Test Agencies (ITA) certified by the EAC (Emphasis added)...

Certification tests shall be performed to certify that the voting system complies with the Georgia Election Code, the Rules of the Georgia State Election Board, and the Rules of the Secretary of State. A Georgia Certification Agent designated by the Secretary of State shall conduct certification tests (Emphasis added).

Rule 590-8-1-.01(d)4 requires:

The Georgia Certification Agent shall conduct a preliminary analysis of the Technical Data Package and prepare an Evaluation Proposal (Emphasis added).

Rule 590-8-1-.01(d)4(iii) states that Evaluation Proposal must contain a “Description of the activities required to complete that portion of the evaluation which is to be performed by the Georgia Certification Agent.”

Rule 590-8-1-.01(d)6 adds:

After any required ITA [Independent Test Agency] tests have been successfully completed, the Georgia Certification Agent shall conduct the tests described in the Evaluation Proposal and submit a report of the findings to the Secretary of State (Emphasis added).

Finally, Rule 590-8-1-.01(d)7 states:

Based on the information contained in the report from the Georgia Certification Agent, and any other information in her possession, the Secretary of State shall determine whether the proposed voting system shall be certified for use in the State of Georgia and so notify the vendor (Emphasis added).

It appears that the operational functional testing performed by testing lab Pro V&V of Alabama was a “Qualification” test, but was not reviewed by a Certification Agent who then should have completed the certification testing in order to submit a Certification Agent’s report for purposes of creating a basis for your decision to certify. It appears that Secretary Raffensperger did not designate a Certification Agent as required to conduct a “preliminary analysis of the Technical Data Package and prepare an Evaluation Proposal”, and “conduct the tests described in the Evaluation Proposal and submit a report of the findings to the Secretary of State.” An Open Records Request for certification documentation for the Dominion System only produced the Dominion System Pro V+V Georgia Certification Testing Report and the August 9, 2019 Dominion System Certification. No Certification Agent Report or reference to designated Certification Agent was located. Such a report is legally required as the basis for system certification.

The Certification of the Dominion System by Secretary Raffensperger appears to fail to comply with the requirement to designate a Certification Agent to conduct the certification test and rely on that Agent’s report for the certification decision.

b. Incorrect Technical Testing Standards Used for Certification

According to the Dominion System Pro V+V Georgia Certification Testing Report, the Dominion System was tested under the Election Assistance Commission (“EAC”)’s Voluntary Voting Systems Guidelines 1.0 2005 standards (“VVSG 1.0”). This violates Rule 590-8-1-.01(d) of the Georgia Election Code requiring testing to and compliance with “Voting System Standards,” which is the EAC 2002 standard. These standards are not the same and can be incompatible on some technical issues.

The Rule requiring 2002 standards certification cannot simply be re-interpreted to refer to VVSG 1.0. Indeed, if the Rule was interpreted to require the most recent EAC standard, this would require the EAC 2015 standards VVSG 1.1, to which no available voting system has been certified. This discrepancy must be reconciled. Either Secretary of State rule-making processes should update the standard required or a different system must be selected.

c. Failure to Certify Electronic Pollbooks

The August 9, 2019 Dominion System Certification makes no reference to electronic pollbook certification. Chris Harvey, the State Elections Director, has testified that Georgia includes the electronic pollbooks as a component of the state's voting system. Indeed, it is an integrated component of the voting system that determines the accuracy of the electronic ballot a voter is issued. As such, the pollbooks selected for purchase should be certified under the Georgia certification standards of the Georgia Election Code prior to its purchase and use.

d. Certification Failed to Include Testing for Safety (Security)

O.C.G.A. § 21-2-379.24(d) provides:

The Secretary of State shall thereupon examine or reexamine such device and shall make and file in his or her office a report, attested by his or her signature and the seal of his or her office, stating whether, in his or her opinion, the kind of device so examined can be safely and accurately used by electors at primaries and elections as provided in this chapter (Emphasis added).

It appears the Qualification testing of the Dominion System was one in which “all system functions, which are essential to the conduct of an election in the State of Georgia, were evaluated.”¹ While the functionality of the components of the Dominion System may have been tested, it is a glaring omission that the safety of the system, particularly in regards to cybersecurity and the integrity of votes cast has yet to be tested by Georgia.

According to virtually every qualified expert in the field, BMDs are vulnerable to undetected error or attack², and it is unclear whether Georgia's voting systems are held to any set security standards. Other states are active in their fight against hackers and malware – Pennsylvania, for instance, has adopted a 30-page “PA Voting System Security Standard”³ by which to evaluate voting systems.

The reexamination considering the safety (security) of the system should address the Dominion System's known vulnerabilities such as those announced by the cybersecurity expert organizers of the Voting Village at DEFCON recently:⁴

-The Dominion Imagecast Precinct runs an application which already has 20 documented medium to high level vulnerabilities--including the ability to allow remote attackers to implement a DNS attack.

-The Dominion Imagecast Precinct has an exposed flash card containing an .xml file that if manipulated would allow for scanned votes to be redirected to a different candidate.

2. Barcode Votes are Unverifiable by the Voter

The ImageCast X BMD converts the voter's selections on the screen to a barcode which is printed on the printed vote record and then fed into the scanner by the voter. Although the printed vote record also includes human-readable information that is supposed to show the votes cast by the voter, it is the barcode (not readable by the voter) that is read and counted by the scanner and is the basis for the ultimate tabulation of the votes.

It should go without saying that requiring a voter to cast votes recorded in the form of a barcode that she cannot read, interpret or verify directly undermines the State's decision to adopt a voting system that includes a verifiable ballot. The Dominion System violates these specific provisions of the Georgia Election Code:

O.C.G.A. §21-2-2(7.1):

'Electronic ballot marker' means an electronic device that does not compute or retain votes; may integrate components such as a ballot scanner, printer, touch screen monitor, audio output, and a navigational keypad; and uses electronic technology to independently and privately mark a paper ballot at the direction of an elector, interpret ballot selections, communicate such interpretation for elector verification, and print an elector verifiable paper ballot (emphasis added).

a. Tabulated Vote Records Are Not “elector verifiable” or “readable by the elector”

The barcoded symbols printed on the “paper ballot” and counted by the scanner are not, of course, “elector verifiable,” violating the Georgia Election Code. Though the system also prints what is designed to be a human readable recapitulation of the voter's selections, that information does not constitute the “ballot” or “vote” that can be counted by the Dominion System; it is the barcode that the scanners are programmed to read to create the vote tallies. The voter, however, has no way of knowing what vote selections are embedded in the encrypted barcode. The barcode may be coded incorrectly or coded correctly on the touchscreen and then miscoded (by programming error, bug, malicious attack, etc.) either on the barcode or at the scanner where the ballot is cast.

b. Dominion System Barcodes Cannot Generate Official Vote Counts

The use of barcodes for tallying runs afoul of O.C.G.A. § 21-2-300(a)(2) read in conjunction with O.C.G.A. § 21-2-379.22(6) and O.C.G.A. §21-2-379.23(d). O.C.G.A. § 21-2-300(a)(2) states that the “electronic ballot markers shall produce paper ballots which are marked with the elector's choices in a format readable by the elector.” O.C.G.A. § 21-2-379.22(6) also states that the “electronic ballot markers shall produce paper ballots which are marked with the elector's choices in a format readable by the electors.” O.C. G.A. §21-2-379.23(d) states that “The paper ballot printed by the electronic ballot marker shall constitute the official ballot and shall be used for, and govern the result in, any recount conducted pursuant to Section 21-2-495 and any audit conducted pursuant to Section 21-2-498” (emphasis added). A fatal problem with the Dominion System is that the portion of the ballot that is “readable by the elector” is not the portion that is machine-tabulated, and by law the barcode is not to govern any result at any stage of ballot processing, which means that the barcode cannot legally be used to tally the vote counts. As a result, the Dominion System cannot comply with Georgia’s Election Code.

The Dominion System tabulates barcodes, not human readable votes. But the ballot marking device statutes adopted as part of HB316 requires that official tallies be produced by elector-readable ballots and that recounts and audits also be based on ballots readable by the elector. The Dominion System simply does not tabulate votes in the manner required by the Georgia Election Code. If the Dominion System is implemented, in order to comply with the Election Code, manual counts of the voters’ human-readable selections on the paper record would be required to obtain the vote tallies. This is an absurd result that must be considered in the reexamination and selection of a voting system.

3. Results Produced by the Dominion System are Not Auditable

Georgia’s Election Code now requires that election results be audited. However, the Dominion System does not produce auditable election results. Such non-compliance with the Election Code should have prohibited the August 9, 2019 Dominion System certification.

Auditing and voting system experts are in broad agreement that electors are frequently unable to adequately verify that the machine has printed their intended ballot content, resulting in the fact that there is no auditable source record.⁵ Computer science and election security experts Professors Andrew Appel, Rich DeMillo and Philip Stark have warned that even if voters notice votes are recorded incorrectly on the ballot summary card, there is no reliable feedback loop to provide sufficient evidence to address BMDs that may be recording votes incorrectly. In other words, it is likely that faulty machines will continue to be used in a polling place without errors being addressed.

Professor Stark, the nation’s premier expert in post-election auditing, has warned repeatedly that auditing election results generate using primarily BMDs is “meaningless.”⁶ His opinion, with the concurrence of the majority of other experts in the field simply cannot be ignored in favor of wishful thinking.

4. Violation of Secret Ballot Requirements

⁵ Ballot-Marking Devices (BMDs) Cannot Assure the Will of the Voters:

The Dominion System Scanners Record Data that Violates Georgia’s Secret Ballot Protections

According to Dominion’s responses to the State of Michigan’s certification process ⁷, the scanners used by the Dominion System appear to violate Georgia’s secret ballot laws and the Georgia Election Code. The Dominion Precinct Scanner records the ballots in chronological order of scanning with timestamps which are retained on memory cards in encrypted records. Although the timestamp information may not be exported during routine report writing, it appears that election insiders or hackers with access to decrypted data on the cards could replay the scanned ballots in order to connect a voter with his or her ballot.

The order of voters casting their ballots in the polling place can easily be determined by poll workers, poll watchers, security video surveillance, other voters, the public observing the election, public electronic pollbook records, and commercial data collectors. The order or time merely needs to be matched with the timestamp on the encrypted memory card to connect the voter and her ballot. This is a significant defect, and a clear violation of Georgia’s requirement of absolute secrecy in voting.

The Georgia Constitution states: “Elections by the people shall be by secret ballot.” (Ga. Const. Art. II, § 1, ¶ I). O.C. G.A. § 21-2-70(13) provides that election superintendents guarantee the secrecy of the ballot. O.C. G.A. 21-2-379.22 (5) requires that ballot marking devices “Permit voting in absolute secrecy so that no person can see or know any other elector’s votes.” See also O.C.G.A. § 21-2-365(6) (scanning systems “shall permit voting in absolute secrecy”). Georgia’s strong legal protections of the secret ballot will not permit the operation of the Dominion scanner.

5. Accessibility

The scanners used by ImageCast X BMD may violate the Help America Vote Act of 2002 (HAVA), § 301(a), which requires that a voting system shall:

1.A.i: “permit the voter to verify (in a private and independent manner) the votes selected by the voter on the ballot before the ballot is cast and counted.”

1.A.ii: “provide the voter with the opportunity (in a private and independent manner) to change the ballot or correct any error before the ballot is cast and counted (including the opportunity to correct the error through the issuance of a replacement ballot if the voter was otherwise unable to change the ballot or correct any error).”

⁷https://www.michigan.gov/documents/sos/071B7700117_Dominion_Exhibit_2_to_Sch_A_Tech_Req_555357_7.pdf (item 28)

3.A: “be accessible for individuals with disabilities, including nonvisual accessibility for the blind and visually impaired, in a manner that provides the same opportunity for access and participation (including privacy and independence) as for other voters.”

The Master Technical Evaluation report of the Dominion System shows that the system was harshly reviewed by its six Georgia evaluators on accessibility evaluations. That report makes it clear that the Dominion System is not accessible for individuals with disabilities “in a manner that provides the same opportunity for access and participation (including privacy and independence) as for other voters.”

Because the Dominion System was only reviewed by evaluators who watched a video provided by Dominion, and was not reviewed by an accessibility test group, we suggest that more sophisticated accessibility evaluations be conducted in person by experts to determine compliance with HAVA and whether the system “permit(s) the voter to verify (in a private and independent manner) the votes selected by the voter on the ballot before the ballot is cast and counted.”

6. Certification Denied by the State of Texas

During the reexamination of the Dominion Voting System, we ask that the evaluation consider the reports on this system by the State of Texas professional examiners who unanimously rejected the Dominion System in January 2019. The findings are listed in reports at https://www.sos.texas.gov/elections/laws/jan2019_dominion.shtml. The testing failures included the complexity of configuration and ballot adjudication services crashing, as well as poor scanner image quality, frequent errors and paper jamming problems.

7. Summary

For the above reasons, the Georgia voters listed on Exhibit B and the organizations supporting this petition respectfully request your immediate and thorough reexamination of the Dominion System, including the electronic pollbooks. We request that in compliance with Rule 590-8-1-.01(d), you designate a Certification Agent to undertake the duties required by the Rule, including issuing a report on which your decision on system certification should be based. The Dominion System fails to meet Georgia’s voting system certification requirements. We urge you to promptly withdraw its certification and reexamine the system.

John D. Stanton	3534 Rockhaven Circle NE,	Atlanta, Ga. 30324 - 2535	Fulton	I have been an active, registered, GaVoter for over 37 years. The last 17 have been frustrating, each time I departed the polling place, my angst grew as I asked myself: will your votes count as cast? The answer added angst. My last encounter with a DRE machine confirmed my concerns, in the St wide runoff, on 12.04.18, I saw my PSC vote flip, just below your contest. I was so stunned to see it occur, I had to seek assistance of a nearby poll worker, I had never needed to use the Green Back button, for any purpose, ever. And, since the flip occurred during transition from the "Select screen" to the "Review/Cast" screen, "Back" no longer displayed, but, with assistance it was resolved. What you & Gov Kemp want, BMDs w/ QRcodes & abb,,rvtd;txt as the verifiable part of the BMDBallot, is problematic, to put it mildly. Since the Scanned votes are hidden inside the QRcode, your efforts of deception have become a real problem for you, and, another reason to doubt the integrity of your intentions. Add to that, the fact that neither you, nor any media reports have divulged this critical information to the public, you've been deemed a deceitful person who is the top EO in Ga. Your undeniable effort to keep this from the "Mainstream" mass of Ga Taxpayers and GaVoters has fully proven that you are not a trustworthy person who should

Petition for Reexamination of the New Dominion Voting System — to be delivered to Georgia Secretary of State Brad Raffensperger

Dear Secretary Raffensperger,

I wish to add my name to the petition for reexamination of the new Dominion voting system. I am a Georgia voter and object to our elections being conducted using machines designed to require me to cast a barcode vote that I cannot read.

The system is fundamentally flawed and is not secure, and therefore should be rejected because it violates Georgia laws requiring accurate and secure voting systems.

Georgia voters demand that the State abandon electronic voting and vote using hand marked paper ballots counted by optical scanners with results thoroughly audited. Voters with disabilities should be accommodated with the best assistive solutions available.

Thank you for considering this urgent request.

Petition for Reexamination of the New Dominion Voting System — to be delivered to Georgia Secretary of State Brad Raffensperger

Dear Secretary Raffensperger,

I wish to add my name to the petition for reexamination of the new Dominion voting system. I am a Georgia voter and object to our elections being conducted using machines designed to require me to cast a barcode vote that I cannot read.

The system is fundamentally flawed and is not secure, and therefore should be rejected because it violates Georgia laws requiring accurate and secure voting systems.

Georgia voters demand that the State abandon electronic voting and vote using hand marked paper ballots counted by optical scanners with results thoroughly audited. Voters with disabilities should be accommodated with the best assistive solutions available.

Thank you for considering this urgent request.

Petition for Reexamination of the New Dominion Voting System — to be delivered to Georgia Secretary of State Brad Raffensperger

Dear Secretary Raffensperger,

I wish to add my name to the petition for reexamination of the new Dominion voting system. I am a Georgia voter and object to our elections being conducted using machines designed to require me to cast a barcode vote that I cannot read.

The system is fundamentally flawed and is not secure, and therefore should be rejected because it violates Georgia laws requiring accurate and secure voting systems.

Georgia voters demand that the State abandon electronic voting and vote using hand marked paper ballots counted by optical scanners with results thoroughly audited. Voters with disabilities should be accommodated with the best assistive solutions available.

Thank you for considering this urgent request.
